NOVA SOUTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

Broward County Public Schools (BCPS) and Nova Southeastern University (NSU) welcome you to take a byte out of our Computer Science summer camp program. You will experience campus life while learning about computer science skills in workshops.

The camp is designed to expose high school students to some of the fundamental skills necessary in pursuing a career path in the field of computer science. In addition, you will be given the opportunity to strengthen your knowledge in technical and professional writing, which will support your future endeavors into the computer science industry. Throughout the week you will experience hands-on activities on the topics below:

- Develop problem-solving skills using programming data structures and algorithms.
- Learn about the career opportunities computer science studies can provide your future.
- Explore the development and deployment of mobile applications and web and internet design.
- Learn about computer technology as it relates to electrical circuits and digital logic.

The summer program will be for 1 week, June 20-24, 2016 from 8:30 a.m. - 3 p.m. The camp will be held at the NSU Davie Campus 3100 Ray Ferrero Boulevard Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33314.
